Outbound Caller ID Substitution Agreement for RingCentral MVP[1]

RingCentral Inc. (together with its affiliates, "RingCentral"), has entered into an agreement with the below-named customer ("Customer") (together with RingCentral, the "Parties") for the provision of certain RingCentral services (the "Services"). Customer has requested to use telephone numbers that it obtains from a third party telecommunications service provider as its presentation calling line identification number ("Outbound Caller ID"). In order to facilitate this request, the Parties agree as follows:

1. Customer shall provide RingCentral with a list of telephone numbers to be used as Outbound Caller IDs in a format agreed upon by the Parties.

2. Customer shall provide RingCentral with proof of its ongoing authorization to use and control the Outbound Caller IDs. RingCentral will accept, as evidence of Customer's authorization to use and control the Outbound Caller IDs, a copy of an invoice from the third party telecommunications service provider attached as Attachment A; provided, however, that the invoice is dated no more than 30 days from the date of the request, and that Customer provides RingCentral with its most recent invoice on a quarterly basis. Each Outbound Caller ID must appear in the invoice provided to RingCentral. Failure to provide continued proof of authorization, in the form of an invoice or other proof mutually agreed upon in writing by the Parties, shall be deemed a representation that Customer no longer has authorization to use or control the Outbound Caller IDs.

3. Customer may only substitute Outbound Caller IDs for which it has authorization to use and control. RingCentral may remove unauthorized Outbound Caller IDs from Customer's Account at any time.

4. If applicable, Customer shall provide a Letter of Authorization to port the telephone numbers from the third party telecommunications service provider.

5. Customer represents and warrants that: (a) Customer has authorization to use and control each of the Outbound Caller IDs for the duration of their use; (b) each Outbound Caller ID appears in an invoice from the third party telecommunications service provider and attached as Attachment A; (c) all information provided by Customer is true, accurate, current and complete; and (d) the Customer's use of the Outbound Caller IDs in relation to the Services is consistent with all applicable laws and regulations.

6. Customer agrees to indemnify, defend and hold RingCentral, its officers, directors, employees, affiliates and its suppliers harmless from any claims, losses, damages, penalties or costs (including without limitation reasonable attorneys' or expert witness fees) arising out of or related to the substitution of an Outbound Caller ID.

7. For the avoidance of doubt, each warranty stated in this Agreement is a material provision of the Agreement. Upon breach of any warranty by Customer, RingCentral may remove any Outbound Caller IDs provisioned on Customer's account.
